Commander Ralph E. Arnott is a recent graduate of the Naval Air War College and is currently undergoing refresher training as prospective XO/CO of Attack Squadron 122. His previous duty assignments include Attack Squadrons 27 and 155 and the USS Ranger (CV-61), and has served as a flight instructor with Training Squadron 21 and Attack Squadron 122.

Commander Gaffney is a graduate of the Naval Academy and has held a variety of assignments in destroyers, specializing in antisubmarine and surface warfare. A graduate of the Naval Post Graduate School, his expertise in communications earned him assignments with the Defense Communications Agency, and as Assistant Chief of Staff for Communications with Commander Cruiser Destroyer Group Two. He served as an advisor in Vietnam during that conflict.

Lieutenant Commander Richard N. Papworth did his undergraduate work at University of Southern California in International Relations and his post-graduate work in Naval Security Affairs at the Naval Post-graduate School. He served as the current intelligence briefer for the CNO from 1980-1982.

Commander Hans Garde, Royal Danish Navy, a recent graduate of the US Naval War College, has had extensive sea and staff assignments with the Royal Danish Navy and is currently Chief of the Long Term Planning and Policy Branch in the staff of the Chief of Defense. He has written widely on security policy in Danish and US professional journals, and won the Gold Medal Prize Essay from the US Naval Institute in 1975.

Rear Admiral Robert N. Colwell earned his Ph.D. and received his reserve commission in early 1942. Later that year he served as a photo intelligence officer in the Guadalcanal Campaign and was subsequently ordered to the staff of the Navy's Photo Interpretation School. After the war he spent 36 years at the University of California School of Forestry where he was engaged in remote sensory-related teaching and research activities. Through these years he remained active in the Naval Reserve.

Alvin Z. Rubinstein, Professor of Political Science at the University of Pennsylvania, is the recipient of awards from the Ford, Rockefeller, Guggenheim and Earhart Foundations, and the Social Science Research Council and Nato.

Among his published works are Soviet Foreign Policy Since World War II: Imperial and Global, 2nd ed. (1985); Soviet Policy Toward Turkey, Iran, and Afghanistan; and Red Star on the Nile: The Soviet-Egyptian Influence Relationship Since the June War.

Dr. Sissela Bok is from Sweden and received her B.A. and M.A. degrees from George Washington University, and her Ph.D. in philosophy from Harvard University. She has been a council member of the United Nations University for Peace; codirector of a project on Applied and Professional Ethics, sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation; and a member of the Editorial Board, Ethics. She is the author of Lying: Moral Choice in Public and Private Life; and Secrets: On the Ethics of Concealment and Revelation.
