MISSION

U. S. Naval War College

To further an understanding of the fundamentals of warfare, with emphasis on their application to future naval warfare, in order to prepare officers for higher command.

Objectives. . . .

Broadly speaking, the objective of the Naval War College, as stated in the mission, may be broken down into two objectives:

To increase each officer's knowledge of the fundamentals of war, strategy, tactics, logistics, weapons, national and international affairs and other related subjects which contribute to an understanding of warfare.

To improve each officer's reasoning powers and ability to apply his knowledge to specific problems in order to arrive at a logical solution.

Taken together, these two functions — knowledge and reasoning power—produce the mental capacity essential to a mastery of the art of war.

In support of the mission, the Naval War College has been assigned the following tasks:

Conduct an Advanced Course in Strategy and Sea Power

Conduct a Flag Officer Refresher Course

Conduct a Strategy and Tactics Course

Conduct a Strategy and Logistics Course

Conduct a Command and Staff Course

Conduct Correspondence Courses in Strategy and Tactics,
Logistics, and International Law

Sponsor Research in Tactical and Logistical Techniques
